

ACONA

Apply Now:
ARMS CONTROL NEGOTIATION ACADEMY
2022-2023 Fellowship Cohort

The world is facing new global security threats. Great power and regional tensions are on the rise. The post-World War II security architecture is disintegrating. ACONA asks the next generation of arms control negotiators to meet the security challenges of our time.

What is ACONA?

The Arms Control Negotiation Academy (ACONA) is a 12-month, high-level professional development program for a competitively selected cohort of rising international security experts and practitioners. The ambitious training curriculum addresses critical historical case studies, technological know-how, and advanced negotiation skills in the realm of arms control. Participants earn a Certificate in Arms Control Negotiation and become part of ACONA's network of next-generation arms control negotiators.

Program

ACONA Fellows partake in three 5-day workshops ("boot camps") as well as a conference to attend expert lectures, participate in negotiation exercises, and engage in small group discussions with distinguished scholars and practitioners. Past ACONA speakers have included Ambassador of the Russian Federation to the United States Anatoly Antonov and former EU High Representative Catherine Ashton, as well as ACONA International Advisory Board members Alexei Arbatov, Rose Gottemoeller, Pavel Palazhchenko, and William Potter.

- Fellowship Term: July 1, 2022 - June 30, 2023
- Boot Camp 1: August 15-19, 2022, Virtual
- Boot Camp 2: January 9-13, 2023, Virtual
- Boot Camp 3: May 8-12, 2023, Reykjavík, Iceland
- ACONA Conference Reykjavík: May 13, 2023, Reykjavík, Iceland

ACONA Fellows are required to participate in all boot camps and the conference, actively engage in discussions, collaborate with a small group of Fellows on an international research project, and submit the results of that project by the end of their 12-month fellowship. The fellowship covers the cost of travel to and accommodation at the final boot camp and conference in Iceland. For details on accommodation, flights, and logistics, please see the FAQ on the ACONA website.

Eligibility

ACONA welcomes applications by highly qualified candidates of all nationalities who demonstrate 3-5 years of advanced professional or research experience in one of the following broad fields: (1) arms control and nuclear issues, (2) negotiation and mediation, and (3) international peace, security, and global affairs, particularly U.S.-Russia-China-EU relations. The most highly-qualified candidates will be able to demonstrate several years of professional or research experience in their field, international experience, an advanced degree, and public recognition of their achievements.

Application

To apply, please send the following documents to acona@fas.harvard.edu by Friday, May 6, 2022, 11:59pm EDT (Saturday, May 7, 2022, 03:59am UTC):

1. Motivation letter (see ACONA website for letter requirements),
2. CV or resume that reflects relevant experience, and
3. 1 recommendation letter that highlights exceptional relevant work.

Both motivation letter and CV/resume should be attached to an email in PDF format and submitted to ACONA by the applicant. The recommendation letter must be submitted to ACONA by the recommender (not by the applicant). Candidates will be notified of their acceptance in June 2022. For more information, please visit www.acona.fas.harvard.edu.

Partners

ACONA is a collaborative effort of the Negotiation Task Force (NTF) of Harvard University's Davis Center for Russian and Eurasian Studies, the History and Public Policy Program (HAPP) at the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars, Höfði Reykjavík Peace Centre, and Peace Research Institute Frankfurt (PRIF).

Contact

Arms Control Negotiation Academy (ACONA)
Negotiation Task Force (NTF)
Davis Center for Russian and Eurasian Studies at Harvard University
1730 Cambridge Street, Cambridge, MA 02138, USA
Web: www.acona.fas.harvard.edu
Email: acona@fas.harvard.edu
Phone: +1 (617) 496-2180